

New Medical Offices Open in Roseville

The new Riverside Medical Offices will meet the needs of growing Sacramento suburbs with double the number of providers, larger on-site imaging, and dedicated adult medicine care.

Kaiser Permanente is opening a new, state-of-the-art medical office building in Roseville, a major expansion of health services in one of the fastest growing areas in California.

When doors open to members October 1, the new Riverside Medical Offices will improve access and convenience. Once the building is fully complete next year, it will have double the number of provider offices, from 71 to 142, and will expand the number of providers and support staff. It will replace the current Riverside Medical Offices, which has been part of the Roseville community since it opened in 1980. At that time, the Roseville area membership was just a few thousand.

“Kaiser Permanente is committed to making it as convenient as possible for our members to get high-quality medical care,” said Jordan Herget, senior vice president and area manager, Kaiser Permanente Roseville. “This new facility has been in planning since we began to experience more population growth in Roseville. We want to serve our members with the best care and be the provider of choice in the community.”

Today, Roseville and Rocklin are ranked as 2 of the fastest growing cities in California, and the Placer County area is projected to grow more in the next 20 years. Kaiser Permanente Roseville has seen that growth as well, with membership now at nearly 340,000. This expansion addresses that growth.

“We have been committed to the total health of our members in the greater Sacramento region for more than 50 years now,” said Janet Liang, president of Kaiser Permanente in Northern California. “This new facility is part of our larger investment in the greater Sacramento area to bring more hospital beds, more physicians, and more mental health services to the vibrant communities we serve.”

The new 210,000-square-foot building encompasses a larger laboratory and expanded services, including an on-site medical imaging suite.

Services at Riverside Medical Offices include adult and family medicine, allergy and immunology, blood pressure screening, laboratory, radiology and diagnostic imaging, ophthalmology, optometry, an optical center, and health education. Up to 550 employees and physicians will work out of the new offices once it is fully complete in 2020.

The new Roseville facility represents Kaiser Permanente’s integrated health care model of care and coverage together, including coordinated care, advanced technology and medical excellence.

“Kaiser Permanente is transforming health care. Our new Riverside Medical Offices offer convenient access to adult and family medicine and other services in an updated facility that is part of our integrated delivery system,” said Richard Florio, MD, physician in chief for Kaiser Permanente Roseville. “Our physicians, nurses, and staff work together to ensure that our patients receive personalized, coordinated, and technologically advanced care — and we are having a positive and often life-changing impact on the health and well-being of our members and the communities we serve.”

Kaiser Permanente is also incorporating environmentally sustainable features in the new facility with a focus on energy efficiency and water usage. In 2020, Kaiser Permanente expects its Riverside facility to be the first in greater Sacramento to earn LEED Gold certification for sustainability and environmentally conscious design.
